GIRL KILLED, ESCORT INJURED IN PECULIAR AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT ON LINCOLN AVENUE

Miss Mary Allison, Aged 25 is Victim, Dying in Doctor's Office — Herman Paxton is Taken Home

WITNESSES TELL SAME STORY

Automobile Swerved Into Couple According to Narratives Told by Various Persons—Miss Allison Walking Home From Party—Believed She Had Premonition of Death As She Sang Hymn

Returning with a crowd of young folk from a party out Maple Creek this morning at 12:15 o'clock, Miss Mary Allison, aged 25 years was killed along Lincoln avenue extension, when struck by an automobile and Herman Paxton aged 23 her escort, was injured. The automobile was driven by Robert Jones of Allenport and with him were Fred Collins, Isaac Beazel and Hays Walters of Speers and Thomas Werton of Roscoe.

The accident happened at the bend of the road near First street. Miss Allison and Paxton were walking together and behind them were three other couples, in the party being Miss Agnes Boag of Fayette City, Miss Louise Jay, Mrs. Nellie Strauser, William Fletcher, Alex Hudspith and George Garret of Charleroi. They had just left the home of Miss Bertha Milbey, where the party had been held and were walking home.

Jones with his automobile party were returning from a little spin out Lincoln avenue extension and were intending going home immediately.

Stories of witnesses are practically the same. When the automobile was seen coming those in the crowd walking moved to the right side of the road. Three couples were safely passed. Then the automobile suddenly swerved toward the curb from a cause unknown. There is no sidewalk at the point. Miss Allison and Paxton crowded in close, but it seemed the machine passed from the control of the driver and dove straight for them.

In an inkling both had been struck down, Miss Allison apparently being struck by the radiator of the car and Paxton by the right light, which was broken by the impact. The car was brought to a halt within its own length and Collins leaped from it and with William Fletcher picked up the unconscious girl. Paxton was given attention by others of the party and both were hurriedly brought to the office of Dr. J. W. Hunter. It appears Miss Allison died at about the time of arrival there. Jones and his party notified the police of the occurrence and furnished their names in case they were needed. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Deputy Coroner Lawrence B. Frye and Coroner James T. Heffran notified. Paxton was taken home.

The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Allison of 305 Oakland avenue and a widely known young lady. She has held various clerical positions at different stores and within the last two years has been employed as clerk in charge of the ParkeTrading Stamp parlors. She was a member of Charleroi Circle 393, Protected Home Circle and was especially active in church work, being a member of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. Also she was a member of the young ladies' Sunday school class of that denom[illegible] by Mrs. Stewart. Four sisters, Rebecca, Sarah, Blanche and Clara, and [illegible], Mrs. Nellie Strauser and two half brothers, Harry and Bert Murrell survive.

Human interest stories are told to some of [illegible] the party, where it seemed Miss Allison had a premonition of her death. As is customary at parties of the sort singing was a diversion. Popular songs of the day failed to satisfy, and hymns were called for. The last one sung was "God be With You Till We Meet Again." Miss Allison sang this so appealingly at the time that comment was occasioned and the party broke up rather soberly. Then the fatal trip home was started.

At his home in North Charleroi this morning Herman Paxton is said to be suffering severely from his injuries. However nothing particularly serious is expected from his condition. His burns are about his chest and it is not believed there are severe internal injuries.

Robert Jones, the driver of the automobile concerned in the tragedy is a young man of 28 years of age of Allenport. He is well known along the Monongahela valley and highly respected.

RAILROAD EXTENSIONS INTO COUNTY PLANNED

Panhandle Company Acquires Wellsburg and State Line Railroad and Will Build to Taylorstown According to Latest News.

The deeps of the railroad world are troubled and many extensions are projected in consequence. As a matter of fact the projects having their loci within a relatively short radius of Pittsburg that have assumed definite shape since the first of the current year alone assure more new construction than has occurred in any single 12-month period for a long time past.

The Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, better known as the Panhandle Route, announces ownership of the Wellsburg & State Line Railroad, just acquired by purchase, and of its purpose to extend the same shortly to and through an extensive and virgin coal field and ultimately should conditions warrant the expenditure, to Taylorstown, in Washington county, this state. The rails of the little property just acquired by the Panhandle begins at Wellsburg, W. Va., and end at the boundary line between that state and Pennsylvania and to reach the coal deposits referred to will require the construction of several additional miles of line. Meantime, the old portion of the road will be rebuilt—roadbed, track and structures—and put into condition to handle the great coal tonnage that will ensue upon the completion of the extension.

ROADS APPROVED BY GRAND JURY

Marianna-West Bethlehem and Avella-Independence Highways May be Rebuilt

INSANE HOSPITAL WANTED

The grand jury was finally discharged Tuesday afternoon with the thanks of the court. Tuesday they put their approval on the improvement of two roads, the rebuilding of a bridge and the proposed amendment to improve one road with concrete instead of brick.

The grand jury also took cognizance of the fact, in a resolution presented to the court of the need of a suitable place in this county for the care of the indigent insane. They recommended that the proper authorities proceed with the work of establishing an insane hospital.

Attorney Harry A. Jones, representing the poor board was before the grand jury and he outlined to the jury just what the county needed to take care of the insane of this county and what difficulties the poor board had in finding places for such persons. Institutions over the state are crowded. The costs to the county for the care of these persons elsewhere was commented upon.

The road approved to be improved with concrete, the Marianna-West Bethlehem township road is to be 14 feet in width and the estimated cost is $12,663.75. The length is 5,100 feet. It begins at a bridge over Ten Mile creek at West Zollarsville and extends in a southwesterly direction up Ten Mile creek. It is partly in the township and partly in the borough of Marianna. The borough will pay its proportionate share.

The road to be improved with brick, the Avella-Independence road, is estimated to cost $26,317.50. It is 6,600 feet in length. It begins at the southwestern end of the brick road constructed by the township of Independence and extends southwardly.

The proposition to alter and amend the plans for the proposed improvement of the Cecil-Venice road, by making it a concrete road, instead of brick, was acted upon favorably. This road begins at the upper end of Bishop and extends to the Canonsburg-McDonald road at Venice. The length is 9,450 feet. The estimated cost is $28,800.75. It was shown the jury that the improvement with concrete meant a considerable saving.

The rebuilding of a bridge over Peters creek in the borough of Finleyville at a cost of $5,557.20 was approved. The present bridge is insufficient to take care of the traveling public being too narrow. It is known as the Fry bridge.

TEACHER CLAIMS WOMAN BEAT HER

Miss Ruth M. Grimes, of East Pike Run School Alleges Assault Was Made

TROUBLE WITH CHILD CAUSE

As a sequel to a fierce attack upon Miss Ruth M. Grimes, a teacher in the public schools of East Pike Run township, made by Mrs. Aristidie, a patron of the school in charge of Miss Grimes a few days, a case of assault and battery will be tried in court, probably at the August term, in which the members of the school board of that township are the prosecutors, though the information in the case is made by the teacher, Miss Grimes.

At the instance of the members of the school board, Miss Grimes came to Washington and made information against Mrs. Aristidie before Justice J. M. Ralston at Washington. A warrant for the arrest of the woman was issued and placed in the hands of Detective H. K. Sarver, who went to the home of the defendant Monday. He found that it would be imposing a hardship on the woman to bring her back with him on account of having several small children to care for while her husband was away. The defendant promised however to come to the office of Justice Ralston not later than 10 o'clock Tuesday.

The defendant failed to show up for the hearing, but shortly after 10 o'clock word was received that she had gone before Justice Yarnall of California and waived a hearing giving bail for her appearance at court.

Prior to the alleged assault, the teacher, Miss Grimes, it is learned, punished one of Mrs. Aristidie's children in school. The mother became greatly incensed over the matter and in her anger went to the school house and made an almost brutal attack on the young woman and it is alleged in the information struck the teacher several times and spat in her face. The members of the township school board propose to uphold the teacher, satisfied that she acted wholly within her province as a teacher in punishing the Aristidie child.

THE AMERICAN BOY.

Some profess to be troubled about the present and future of the American boy. They ascribe to him all the vices and shortcomings of the present day and predict all sorts of hazard a guess what the future will be. One writer puts it like this:

"Let us consider dispassionately the average American boy and try to describe him. I do not mean, O Reader, your boy. I mean the typical boy as we see him in the city streets or the country roads. Am I far wrong in depicting him physically as a round shouldered, hollow-chested, shambling in gait, not overtidy in person, not erect in carriage, not looking you straight in the eye?

"In manner is he courteous to all, respectful to his seniors, careful in speech? Does it not strike you that his ideal of manliness is rather the 'tough' than the well bred gentleman?

"Is he obedient and tender to his parents, thoughtful and kind to the weak and aged, helpful to his associates?

"What are his ambitions? To begin at the foot of the ladder and by hard work climb to the top? Does he hold manual labor in itself as ennobling and as alone giving that knowledge of what a day's work means by which later he can intelligently direct the energies of a host of subordinates? Does he not rather leave the high school with a contempt for honest toil and the fixed purpose of never soiling his own hands? Does he not look upon a clerical position with the wearing of a black coat and a white shirt as the best thing lifeholds for him?"

The American boy of today says an exchange is just what social ideals, parental influence, environment have made him. His manhood will be much the same. Good citizenship, like charity, must begin at home.

TRAINING

Under the head of "Training" the Washington Reporter refers editorially to the field meet held at Washington Saturday as follows:

Washington had the honor Saturday of acting as hostess to several hundred visiting school boys and school girls, who were in town for the big interscholastic field and track meet. As has been pointed out before the holding of such affairs cannot but be highly beneficial not only to the young folks who attend themselves, but will also tend to cement together more firmly the various parts of the county which are not directly concerned with the athletic contests staged at College Field.

One hundred and thirty-five boy athletes participated in the various contests and acquitted themselves well. Marks made last year were bettered in most instances, which shows, perhaps, if not an improvement in the physical condition and prowess of the boys of the county at least more thorough team preparation for the meet, and better individual training.

That is a lesson, no greater than which can be learned in any school, whether it be college or grade school, whether its curriculum takes up Greek and philosophy or merely arithmetic and the other two R's. Health is a prime consideration in this life that should be firmly implanted in the minds of the younger generation, girls as well as boys. A boy who hopes to place in a 100-yard dash or mile run must have refrained from smoking cigarets, staying up late at nights, indulged in any one of numerous petty excesses which often tempt boys and in a word have taken as good care of himself as he would of a highly bred colt which he desires to race or a dog which he expects to win first at a prize show.

And physical training is but a parallel of the training which must be given in other directions. The object is to develop a man and a man's self reliance, initiative, pluck and grit in the few short years allotted to each. Athletics and sports in preparation will go a long way in making up for deficiencies in intellectual training. In fancy the snail beats the hare in more than the race.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the field meets will be continued and their lessons grow, their influence increase.

Bentleyville, considering the possibility of annexing a new industry of substantial proportions, has organized a Board of Trade and started activity. The puzzle of it is why Bentleyville has waited this long to organize, when an active Board of Trade could have been at work all this long time accomplishing the things that need to be done. In small towns and [illegible] there is a tendency [illegible] Washington is a good shopping district, and the cultivation of a community idea for civic improvement on a broad scale, are aims. Washington knows the value of small and large industries, but with them it has reached the conclusion that it takes more than a new industrial possibility every six months or year to make a town.

If Washington county is to do its part on good roads day every township should be thoroughly organized for the work. The success of the day's effort as well as the influence which it will have on the county, will depend largely on the way the townships organize and enter into the spirit of the movement. Each township should have a permanent good roads organization, either separate from or a part of the community clubs. The development of sentiment for better highways should be continuous. It will be a long hard pull before we have every mile of highway in condition for public travel every day of the year. Until we do however there is plenty of work for every public spirited citizen in our towns and in our townships.—Washington Observer.

A man just back from a trip to West Virginia, that "dry" state to the south, credits the postmaster of an unidentified city place for the story of a letter to a Pittsburg firm for "wet goods." He tells that recently a man entered the postoffice and desired a money order blank to be made out to a firm in Pittsburg selling liquors.

The postmaster started filling out the blank. "How much?" he queried not knowing what more, the man desired to mail.

Thereat he looked startled. "Well," he said in southern style, "we're goin' to have a party, so I guess you'd better make it five gallon."

CIRCUS ZOO IMPORTANT ADJUNCT OF BIG SHOWS

One of the things in which the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has always excelled is in its menagerie. Carl Hagenbeck, the noted German animal man, was the first person who ever succeeded in breaking and subduing wild animals for a public performance. He startled the capitals of Europe half a century ago with his intelligent, yet maneating beasts. At each world's fair that has been held in the United States in the past forty years the Carl Hagenbeck wild animals have always furnished the stellar attraction.

Each year since the consolidation of the shows, the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has grown. All of the wild animals with the show are under the direction of the Hagenbecks. Only the choicest specimens are seen, others are disposed to smaller circuses and zoos. The Hagenbeck farm, in Hamburg, Germany, is the world's biggest animal headquarters. As fast as rare and costly specimens are captured by the Hagenbeck hunters, scattered throughout the world, they are sent to their own show, the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

But the Hagenbeck animals only form one department of the combined shows. The Great Walace Circus still excels as the "highest class circus in the world." The performance is given in three rings and on two elevated stages. More than 400 noted artists that represent almost every country on the globe will be seen with the Carl Hazenbeck-Wallace Circus in Charleroi on Saturday, May 13.

INFLUENCE OF WOMEN

"Women are a wonderful influence in the lives of most great men," says the Washington Post and upon women rests the responsibility for family health. To her they look for help in time of sickness and the attention of every wife and mother in this vicinity is called to the rare combination of the three oldest tonics known, which Lyers Drug Store guarantee in Vinol—iron for the blood, beef peptone for strength and the body-building, medicinal properties of cod livers. It will pay over-worked, weak, run-down people, delicate children and feeble old people to try it.

Why She Wept.

Mrs. Grundy—"Why do you look so sad, Edie? Edie (tearfully)—"Mary is going to marry Fred." "The worthless young prodigal! No wonder you are sad." "Oh, it is not that. I wanted him myself."

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine —Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. Mayme Asbach, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

The Proof Is Here the Same As Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Charleroi the same as everywhere. Charleroi people have used Doan's and Charleroi people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Charleroi proof. Investigate it.

Mrs. M. E. Richards, 501 Seventh St., Charleroi, says: "For years I had attacks of kidney trouble. Just a short time ago I was suffering from severe pains in my back that often shot up and down my spine and into my head. I also had chills and spots seemed to float before my eyes. I was very nervous and the least work tired me out. I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they drove the attack away."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Richards had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Yankees Beaten

The Yankees were beaten Sunday by the Strand A. A., 10 to 9. Poor fielding lost for the Yanks, as they made seven errors to the Strands' three. The Yanks had 15 hits and the Strands seven. In the ninth inning the score was 9 to 9, when Manager Martinet hit the ball for a home run. Both pitchers pitched well.

Improvements have been made at the Coyle theatre that wonderfully enhances the appearance of interior. NO LONGER THE BOOTJACK

Day When That Implement Was in Use Has Passed Away for All the Time.

The other day a gentleman with pleasant recollections of old-time custom, habit and social usage in American life, wanted a bootjack and tried to buy one, only to find that none could be bought.

It was a melancholy discovery for a man whose memory of other customs was lively and loving and indicated that the whole picture of American life had changed. If the bootjacks have gone, the boots must have, and if the boots have then a whole range of outdoor activities have disappeared.

To see a bootjack would bring them all back the rustic or semirustic activities of the little American communities in which the day was begun by getting up in the cold and building a fire and was ended by getting the bootjack and dragging tightly imprisoned feet out of stubborn boots.

The bootjack is the symbol of bad roads, family means of communication, community and family isolation, narrowed but healthy amusements, bad food, which we now recall sentimentally as ambrosial, bad taste in all the material circumstances of life, which we now recall sentimentally as quaint.

The bootjack was one of the most highly complicated pieces of domestic mechanism, not many generations from this one, which lives by turning electric switches and pressing buttons.

HAD BROUGHT PA'S PRAYERS

Lad Conveyed Substantial Comforts for the Family of the Afflicted Pastor.

Once upon a time sickness came to the family of the poorly paid pastor of a country church. It was winter, and the pastor was in financial straits. A number of his flock decided to meet at his house, and offer prayers for the speedy recovery of the sick ones and for material blessings upon the pastor's family. While one of the deacons was offering a fervent prayer for blessings upon the pastor's household there was a loud knock at the door. When the door was opened a stout farmer boy was seen, wrapped up comfortably. "What do you want, boy?" asked one of the elders. "I've brought pa's prayers," replied the boy. "Brought pa's prayers? What do you mean?" "Yep, brought his prayers, an' they're out in the wagon. Just help me, an' we'll get 'em in." Investigation disclosed the fact that "pa's prayers" consisted of potatoes, flour, bacon, cornmeal, turnips, apples, warm clothing, and a lot of jellies for the sick ones. The prayer meeting adjourned in short order.—Omaha World-Herald.

Kills Kitchen Odors.

One of the most useful applications of electricity about the household is a motor-driven exhaust fan for the kitchen. Attempt to ventilate this room by opening windows and doors is bound to fail, especially in the winter time. Without a ventilator the odors from cooking will penetrate the entire house and linger in the rooms long after the meal itself is gone. The motor-driven fan consists, as the name suggests, of a small motor attached to a powerful fan in an upper pane of a window, near the range. The device is mounted well toward the top of the room. The motor is attached to the lighting circuit and provided with a suitable snap switch for starting and stopping it. During the operation of cooking the switch is turned, and the fan forces out a steady stream of air, carrying with it all smoke, gases and objectionable odors.

Where the Games of Yesteryear?

I have wondered sometimes why the boys in the town where I live now never play marbles or spin tops. In the past five years I have not seen a single game of marbles or once heard the shrill request. "Gimme a peg at yours." It is not strange that the slingshot has vanished, for automobile tires use up all the available rubber. But why should tops and marbles vanish from the earth? They have gone the way of the delightful children's matinees at the old Boston Museum, no doubt, and the Kate Greenaway books, and the jackstones little girls used to toss by the hour, sitting on the front steps. It makes one feel middle aged and mournfully reminiscent. — From the Atlantic
